

Zero is simple.

Zero is what we pay for dues until we accept a contract.

Zero is what we pay for initiation.

First, we vote for the IAM.

Then, we negotiate a contract of our own.

Next, we vote yes or no for the contract.

We would only begin to pay dues if the contract is voted in.

Each Flight Attendant Local Lodge will set their own dues rates by a vote of the membership after we accept a contract.

The improvements we will negotiate to our current terms will far outweigh the cost of dues, just like unionized Delta Pilots and Dispatchers.

It's that simple.

If Delta corporate tells you otherwise, then the faith you can place in corporate is

Zero.
